

Deliverance

Luke 8:26-29

Every now and then it's good to stop;
Take an inventory of the things we've brought.
Thoughts and feelings, moods and attitudes,
all the stuff the cobwebs in our heads have caught.
Lurking in the shadows of our lives
dusty little demons like to breed, living on the food for thought we feed...

them. Time to separate it out.
negatory baggage we can do without.
All the fears that slow and hold us down
Little grudgy thoughts that keep our feeling bound.
Clutter gathered up along the way
Tend to block and cover up from view
All the real treasure that is you...

are filled with God's creative light,
shining through the universe beyond your sight.
Reaching to the very throne of God.
Ours is the potential of unending might.
Clear the passage ways and let it in.
Let his power fill you with his peace'
if in sweet surrender we release...

the ways the world would have us be,
that we take as part of our identity,
filling us with those concerns so great,
using up and channeling our energy.
We are made of better stuff indeed.
Know that we are children of the light.
Know that we are precious in his sight.
