

Father of His, Joseph, So Brave

Father of His,
Joseph, so brave,
Joseph, kind and strong,
you quietly wed
dear Mary, your wife,
and kept her safe from wrong.
You led the way to Bethlehem where she bore her Son that day:
the Son of God within your arms and Christ's church within your sway.

Father of His,
Joseph, so brave,
Joseph, pure and bright,
away in the night,
you hustled them safe
to Egypt from harm's sight.
You taught this boy your skill with wood as he grew so wise and tall.
You showed him what a man must be if he loves God most of all.
Joseph, so brave,
what joy you've found,
with Christ and Mary there.

©2014 by Tim DeFrang