

Faces

Exodus 20:12

Father, mother, sister, brother, teacher and friend, who led me and lead me now, I do extend honor and thanks for the memories of these precious few, ever true, who taught me to love. 2x

Faces from childhood who gave me their best,
Faces from places where I pause to rest, Faces of family and friends here below who show me the face of the God I would know.

Reaching for their teachings I learned how to trust.
They exhorted, supported me, helped me adjust to turns in the path that I wasn't sure of, these precious few, forever true, who taught me to love.

Faces from childhood who helped me to grow,
Faces from places my life made me go,
Faces of family and friends here below show me the face of the God I would know.

Father, mother, sister, brother, teacher and friend
concealed in the care and the love that you lend, Majesty holds me within your embrace, you precious few, ever true who show me God's face.
