

Revelation

2 Timothy 3:14

May those with ears to hear, with eyes that they might see proclaim the message clear God is giving you and me.

Within our inner sight the Holy Spirit thrives
and helps us as we write the scriptures of our lives.

May those who dare to hear heed well the God-head's words
in the starving children's tears, in the singing of the birds,
interpreted by love that the inner self perceives,
the heart's conception of all that the mind perceives.

Beyond the scholar's pen, beyond tradition's view's
are hidden paths to truth no one's ever thought to use.

As prophets of today who God is speaking through,
we each must learn the way that the Light might reach us too.

So each of us must hear God's voice in our own way.
And how the truth appears may be different day to day.

To share the things you see is a very special call,
for through you God could be really talking to us all.

©2014 by Tom DeFrance

