

All the Glories of Heaven

By Tom DeFrango

Shepherds take care. Look in the air.
Watch for the light in the sky.
Angels are coming to tell you.
Soon to appear, soon to be here
lost in a sweet baby's cry,
the Shepherd of Souls will compel you,
to look after sheep
in a pasture as wide as the earth.
Join in the birth of a Shepherd
whose life spent for you will be worth
all the glories of heaven.

Kings now take care. Look in the air.
Watch for a light in the sky.
A star will be shining to tell you.
Soon to appear, soon to be here,
lost in a sweet baby's cry,
the king of kings soon will compel you,
to look for a crown
in a kingdom above all the earth.
Join in the birth of a King
whose life spent for you will be worth
all the glories of heaven.

People take care. Look everywhere.
Watch for the light in your hearts.
The Spirit is coming to tell you.
Soon to appear, soon to be here,
lost in a sweet baby's cry
a small voice within will compel you,
to look for yourself beyond
what you see on this earth.
Join in the birth of a Savior
whose life spent for you will be worth
all the glories of heaven.
