

Fishers of Souls

Simon, Andrew, James and John set out on Galilee.
In their boats they readied their nets to cast into the sea.
From the shore He called the four saying, "Come and follow me."
"I will make you fishers of souls," said He.

They followed Him in wonder as He healed the blind and lame.
Raised the dead and cast out demons all in the Father's name.
They marveled at his power and imagined what they might be.
"I will make you fishers of souls," said He.

Every son and daughter was talking of the news.
He walked upon the water. He's come to save the Jews.
The disciples were all certain that a kingdom they would see.
"I will make you fishers of men." said He.

From town to town they followed Him as He made his message known, till the tide of evil swallowed Him and they were left alone.
But when He rose and appeared to them, they all began to see.
"I will make you fishers of souls," said He.

They spread their nets across the world bringing people to the Lord.
They found themselves in prisons hurled and threatened by the sword.
But the Spirit stayed and guided them. They had the kingdom's key.
"I will make you fishers of souls," said He.

We have a mission, now, and though it may be hard.
We'll do our fishin' now, right in our own back yard.
Not teaching by preaching, our example is our fishing rod.
They'll follow us as we follow the word of God.
