

God, the Center

Light and darkness, space and matter, male and female, good and bad.
strong emotions, non- commitment, love, indifference, happy, sad;
all contraction and expansion, inhale, exhale of the breath,
macrocosm, microcosm, truth and falsehood life and death;
pairs of opposites created to which senses can attest.
God the center, God the fulcrum in between them is at rest.
There no senses can detect Him only his effects we see.
So when searching for your Maker, in the center He will be.

Realized by just your knowing, deep within your very soul,
realized as by your loving, parts are blended into whole.
Silent center of all power, never changing, ever still,
all the opposites about Him interacting by his will.
Thus to master your own being and creation as a whole,
the pairs of opposites must balance on the fulcrum of your soul.
Centered there in your detachment, nothing hold you in its sway, sharing jointly with your Maker his creating...day to day.
