

Jesus In Us All

John 10: 11-14

Do you stop to look behind all the faces that surround you?
Can you hear what they are saying with their eyes?
They may wear their confident facades
and walk around like little gods
but the need for love can never be disguised.

Do you stop to feel the feelings of the people all around you?
Can you see the little Jesuses inside,
reaching out in need of love
as they're searching for the meaning of a life that struggles all day to survive?

Refrain: And nobody can love us more than Jesus.
He'll gather us and guard us should we fall.
No one needs your love more than Jesus does
and there's a little bit of Jesus in us all.

The shepherd guides his flock across the barren desert
and all the sheep will listen for his call.
And calling every one by name
he leads them to the grassy plain.
They follow for they know he loves them all.

And when we learn to see the Jesus in each other,
a dignity in need of sharing love.
Then "I know mine and mine know me"
will be a new reality
that all of us can feel the meaning of.

Refrain
