

Look Up

Refrain: Look up, look, look up to the light shining above you.
Don't let the devil shove you into a darkened corner.
Get up, get up, get up, and when the Spirit has found you, You'll see the world around you in a brand new light.

The God who rolled the ocean to the shore, who taught the tiny sparrow how to soar, who hung the constellations in the sky and then so you and I would never have to die has sent his only Son our freedom to be won. Refrain

The world that we exist in can be small if we never look beyond the garden wall.
Just like a caterpillar in a jar not knowing what we are we don't get very far until at last we die
to be reborn again
into a butterfly.

Refrain
