

On the Road to Emmaus

Luke 24: 13-35

Somewhere between here and Emmaus where paths to the future unwind, the shadows we cast as we run from the past are only a footstep behind.

Somewhere between here and Emmaus
the stranger who enters our lives, someone we might feed or help with a need could be God in a clever disguise.

Through troubles abundant and moments of joy the path leads us on as it will,
as we search for the land of Emmaus, the dream that's just over the hill.
From the choices we make and the paths that we take there's only one lesson to learn when you thought He was gone He was there all along, and He's calling us each to return.

Somewhere between here and Emmaus
the moment of truth will arrive, and we can rejoice
as we tell with one voice how Jesus has entered our lives.
There's room on the road to Emmaus for all who seek shelter from fear.
The final surprise when we open our eyes is to learn that Emmaus is here.
