

Martin and Malcolm and Bobby and John

Martin and Malcolm and Bobby and John sailed off in a wooden shoe and cast their nets for the hearts of men to show us what freedom can do.

Their consciences set the course they chose and courage filled their sails.
And we watched with awe as they braved the squalls and battled the furious gales.

They drew their nets and to their ship many of us were led, until the waves crashed them to the stars and they captured our hearts instead.

Dying was easy for those that died and it's easier yet to grieve, but have you got what it takes inside to live for what you believe?
